Brace yourselves for What Really Happens in Bali

From Australia's favourite tourist destination comes an access-all-areas series that leaves nothing to the imagination.

Channel Seven today announced the new observational-documentary series, WHAT REALLY HAPPENS IN BALI - a no-holds-barred look at what really goes down in Australia's favourite tourist destination.

Every year, close to one million Aussie holidaymakers and expats pour into the magical island of Bali seeking sun, fun and sometimes a new life. For many, it's a place of adventure, opportunity and non-stop partying, but this island paradise can turn into a living hell.

WHAT REALLY HAPPENS IN BALI gives viewers unprecedented access inside Bali's busiest international emergency rooms at BIMC and Sanglah Hospitals so we can see just what happens when holiday plans go awry. From motorbike and surfing accidents, to methanol poisoning, drunken falls and fights, STD's and more, we learn the hidden dangers behind a trip to paradise.

The series also offers a front row seat to the people and experiences that make the island tick - from schoolies experiencing their first taste of freedom, to Bali Fashion Week-wannabes, detoxing celebrities, expats with new business ventures and even the self-confessed Aussie lothario who claims he's slept with over 100 women in 90 days.

We meet the individuals returning to Bali after the 2002 Bali bombings and venture inside Kerobokan Prison to see what life is like for the Aussies who came to Bali, but may never leave.

Coming soon to Seven, WHAT REALLY HAPPENS IN BALI is produced by Eyeworks Australia. David Mason is Executive Producer. The series is narrated by Corinne Grant.

Seven's Head of Factual Programming, Dan Meenan, said: "Some of the footage is almost hard to believe with the show's cameras capturing serious accidents and injuries as they happen. It's edge-of-the-seat real life drama."

Managing Director of Eyeworks Australia, John McAvoy, said: "Bali brings out the best and the worst of Aussies abroad, from honeymooners to death row prisoners to long term expats. Like the island itself, this series offers something for everyone."
