

It's coming. Seven's coverage of the Supercar Auto Bathurst 1000.

Seven is back at The Mountain across 10-12 October with the biggest ever television coverage of The Great Race.

22 hours of LIVE coverage across 3 massive days.

Friday Night LIVE returns in prime-time on 7 Mate from the Mount Panorama Pit Lane.

78 in-car cameras in 13 V8 Supercars.

- Cameras on-track, in-car, in concrete kerbs and walls, in the air, in the pits and flying down the Pit Straight on a wire for coverage of The Great Race: the Supercar Auto Bathurst 1000.
- Including in-car cameras in the support category races across the weekend, Seven will have a total of 183 cameras at Mount Panorama.
- 44 cameras on-track. 4 cameras in the pits. 1 helicopter camera. 1 pit lane thermal imaging camera. 1 'fly-cam' covering 450 metres of pit lane. 78 in-car cameras in 13 V8 Supercars, 50 in-car cameras in cars competing in other races plus 4 portable field cameras.

- V8 Supercar drivers carrying in-car cameras:

Drivers	Car Number
Jamie Whincup & Paul Dumbrell	1
Garth Tander & Warren Luff	2
Mark Winterbottom & Steven Richards	5
Will Davison & Alex Davison	9
Fabian Coulthard & Luke Youlden	14
Rick Kelly & David Russell	15
David Wall & Steve Johnson	17
James Courtney & Greg Murphy	22
Scott McLaughlin & Alex Premat	33
Tim Slade & Tony D'Alberty	47
David Reynolds & Dean Canto	55
Shane Van Gisbergen & Jonathon Webb	97
Craig Lowndes & Steve Richards	888

- 36 kilometres of television production cable and fibre, enough to lap the circuit six times.
- Tech Centre Garage is a working display of a team set-up, including a fully functioning V8 Supercar. Pit reporter Mark Larkham will be based there, and in his regular Tech Centre, to explain the inner workings of a V8 Supercar.
- Television production team of 330 air-lifted to Bathurst from all over Australia to bring together the best experience in motorsport television for Seven's coverage.
- Coverage being broadcast in over 140 countries across Australia, New Zealand, India, the Middle East, throughout Asia and across Europe and North Africa.

- Mark Beretta, Neil Crompton and Mark Skaife will anchor Seven's coverage along with Aaron Noonan and Chad Neylon in the commentary booth. Mark Larkham and Riana Crehan will follow the drama in the pits, and Edwina Bartholomew from Seven's Sunrise program joins our Bathurst team for the first time to capture the colour and personalities involved in the Supercheap Auto Bathurst 1000.
- Seven's coverage is led by Seven's Head of Sport - Saul Shtein, Seven's General Manager Network Sport - Col Southey, General Manager of Television & Content at V8 Media - Scott Young, Senior Producer at V8 Media - Simon Fordham and Senior Director at V8 Media - Nathan Prendergast.

V8 Supercars on Seven and 7mate: Broadcast Times

The Supercheap Auto Bathurst 1000

Friday, 10 October	1:00pm-4:00pm	Qualifying	Seven
	6.30pm-8.30pm	Friday Night LIVE	7mate
Saturday, 11 October	12:00pm-6.00pm	Top 10 Shootout	Seven
Sunday, 12 October	7:00am-6:00pm	Bathurst 1000	Seven Times for Friday, Saturday & Sunday are Australian Eastern Daylight Time.

Check local guides for broadcast information.