

FIFI BOX JOINS THE FIRST WIVES CLUB

The popular radio and TV personality will present Seven's exciting new dating show

(26 November 2017) Fifi Box will be setting hearts on fire as the host of THE FIRST WIVES CLUB.

The show tracks the dramatic, emotional and romantic transformation of four women searching for their second chance at love.

They've walked down the aisle before...but for each of them, their first marriage ended in heartbreak. Now they're back on the dating scene and have a lot to learn!

Fifi will be there every step of the way as they take their first tentative steps back onto the dating scene.

"I'm so thrilled to be hosting The First Wives Club," she said. "It's going to be a roller coaster of a show. Fun and fascinating with lots of excitement along the way which is perfect for me."

Fifi will be joined by the world's number one dating expert, Matthew Hussey, who will help them hone their dating skills and build their confidence as they begin their quest for new love.

Who will find romance again? It's a life-changing relationship crash course you won't want to miss.

THE FIRST WIVES CLUB is currently in production and will air on Seven in 2018. The show is co-developed by Seven Studios and Eureka Productions and produced by Eureka for Channel Seven.
