Seven commissions second series of House Rules

Applications are open for series two of the hit renovation show

Channel Seven today confirmed its hit new show HOUSE RULES will return for a second series.

The remarkable renovation competition has captured the country's imagination, with six houses completely transformed and revealed every week.

This year's teams are vying for one of the biggest prizes in Australian television – their entire mortgage paid off.

The in-house production from the makers of My Kitchen Rules has attracted a huge following since its debut averaging a national audience of 1.8 million. (5 City Metro + Regional Source: OzTAM/RegTAM)

Seven's Director of Network Production, Brad Lyons, said: "We are delighted audiences have enjoyed the House Rules experience. And they're in for an even bigger ride in series two."

Applications are now open at the official HOUSE RULES website at yahoo7.com.au/tv

The second semi-final of HOUSE RULES airs tonight at 7.30pm. Two teams will be eliminated after tonight's garden reveals leaving the two finalists to battle it out in the much-anticipated grand final tomorrow (Monday July 1) at 7.30pm.

One lucky team will be crowned 2013 HOUSE RULES champions and become mortgage free.
