Irreverent new sketch comedy KINNE coming to 7mate

Seven has today announced a locally-produced sketch series from straight-talking, stand-up comic Troy Kinne is coming soon to 7mate.

KINNE is a feisty mix of sketches, rapid fire one-liners and man-on-the-street pearls of wisdom from stand-up comedian, internet favourite and occasional landscape gardener, Troy Kinne.

With over a decade of comedy experience both locally and internationally across stand-up, radio and TV, Troy's fast-paced, savvy style has garnered an enthusiastic following online and at live gigs.

Equally funny and disturbing, KINNE's sharp comedy covers modern issues such as Dating Deal Breakers, Things Never Said by The Boss, Lies We Just Accept and What We'd Really Like to Say to Your Babies.

The series includes a number of Troy's most infamous recurring characters, among them the narcissistic Impromptu Lifeguard and the over-confident Actual Bachelor.

Joined by his key collaborator Max Price and an ensemble cast of mates with nothing better to do, Troy Kinne skewers the little things in life with his straight-up and left-field take on the world.

Seven's Director of Production, Brad Lyons, said: "Continuing on from the success of The Bogan Hunters, we're delighted to have another strong local comedy coming to 7mate. Troy is fresh, edgy and funny – and KINNE will make for some great viewing".

KINNE is created and written by Troy Kinne in collaboration with Max Price and Seven Productions. The Executive Producer is Seven's MaryAnne Carroll.
