The 2025 Logies delivers gold for Seven Australian television's night of night's reaches 3.45 million, biggest TV audience since 2012

The TV WEEK Logie Awards once again proved why it is Australian television's night of nights, reaching 3.45 million Australians on Seven and 7plus last night and delivering its biggest audience in 13 years.

The star-studded event, which saw Home and Away's Lynne McGranger take home the Gold Logie and Magda Szubanski inducted into the Logies Hall of Fame, had an average national total TV audience of 1.43 million, up 7% on 2024 and the highest number since 2012. The audience on 7plus was the biggest streaming audience for a Logies ever and was up 42% year-on-year.

The TV WEEK Logie Awards Red Carpet was the highest rated since 2016, with a national average total TV audience of 1.29 million, up 11% on 2024, and a national reach of 2.17 million.

7NEWS also had its biggest Sunday of 2025 last night, reaching 2.57 million, with a national total TV audience of 1.58 million.

Seven's Group Managing Director, Television, Angus Ross, said: "The TV WEEK Logie Awards continue to be one of the most anticipated events on the Australian television calendar, and last night didn't disappoint.

"From host Sam Pang's comedic brilliance to powerhouse performances by Jimmy Barnes, Guy Sebastian, Marcia Hines and Richard Marx, and a star-studded red carpet, the Logies was TV gold from start to finish. A big congratulations to all the deserving winners, including our very own Lynne McGranger on her Gold Logie win.

"Since returning to Seven, the Logies has seen consistent year-on-year audience growth, and has been a spectacular celebration of our industry, our talent, and the incredible shows that connect Australians," he said.

"Seven is proud to work with Are Media and TV WEEK to present the awards and showcase a vibrant, creative Australian television industry that engages millions of Australians every day."

Seven's National Television Sales Director, Katie Finney, said: "The TV WEEK Logie Awards is a fantastic celebration of the Australian television industry.

“It’s a powerful platform for brands to engage with millions of Australians across one night, and its continued ratings success on Seven shows just how deeply it resonates with our audiences and how much it’s part of Australian culture,” she said.
